

Nissi Pickett has been a licensed Realtor for over a decade and has enjoyed every minute of it. Her tenacity and unbridled enthusiasm led to her being a top agent during the Great Recession of 2007. Her career has spanned commercial and residential real estate for both large national franchises and small independent brands. Fueled with a passion to see professional standards raised in the industry, Nissi became an active member of the Grievance Committee in 2016 at the Greater Metropolitan Association of Realtors. She received an appointment to the Government Affairs Committee in 2017 and has had the privilege of dialoguing with elected officials about the issues that affect the real estate industry and private property rights.

Nissi is the principal broker of The Luxe Agency, a residential real estate firm in Southfield focused on superior client satisfaction.
